

Delightful Japanese Cuisine – Katiga Japanese Food Shop

Talking about Japanese restaurants in Hong Kong, Katiga Japanese Food Shop (Katiga) must be the one you are familiar with.

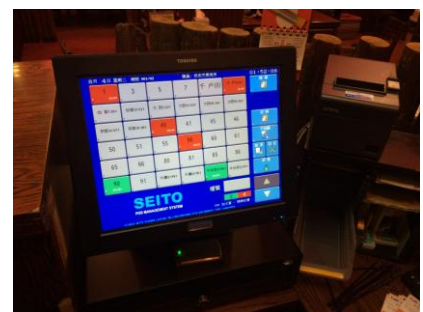

In 1993, Katiga is only a shop of about 20 square meters at Sung Kit Street, Hung Hom. With its outstanding and unique dishes and decoration, more and more customers were being attracted. Business had grown up dramatically and several outlets were opened at Sung Kit Street in a few years' time. As a dominant Japanese restaurant there, Katiga decorated the street in Japanese style. Elegant Japanese lanterns, koi fish flags and many distinctive furnishings imported from Japan were placed around the street. Only such beautiful decoration had already attracted the eyes of the customers.

Apart from offering visual enjoyment to the customers, Katiga always emphasizes creativity and quality of dishes. The original creative dish “Flower of Love Sushi” is one of the unique and tasty Hong Kong style Japanese dishes in Katiga. The “Flower of Love Sushi” is an onigiri wrapped by salmon sashimi pieces and is shaped like a flower. Then, salad dressing and crab roes are put on the top. This flower-like sushi is so elegant and is highly acclaimed by the customers. Mr. Cheung, one of the restaurant owners mentioned, “We emphasized to use fresh food ingredients. The high turnover of food ingredients assured the quality of the dishes and won the confidence of the customers.”

Nowadays, customers concern more about service quality. Katiga truly understood this and has chosen Seito Food & Beverage Management System to assist in restaurant operation and management. With Seito's professional and stable system, food ordering, kitchen printing and billing processes are all computerized. The operation efficiency is greatly enhanced. In addition, powerful reporting function allows Katiga to analyze business status, for example item sales performance, so that their management staff is able to make prompt and accurate business strategy so as to increase revenue.

With Seito, Katiga has great improvement in operation efficiency and the service quality has also been enhanced. Thus, customers will be more satisfied with Katiga's delightful Japanese cuisine.
